Kitty Eugenio's life is far from ideal. She has to live with her relatives. Her mother has gone abroad. Her best friends sometimes act weird, and sometimes keep secrets from her. Her classmates persist in pairing her with a boy she doesn't like, but who just might be able to help in the search for her father. The love of her life doesn't know she exists. And it's not just any ordinary year, it's the year of the Tiger, the year of People Power, the year of Halley's Comet, the year of upheaval and change.

Briefly relates the history of many Philippine flags, including the current national flag. Includes words and music for Lupang hinirang by Julian Felipe, lyrics by Surian ng Wilkang Pambasa; words for Panatang makabayan, and the pledge of allegiance in Tagalog.

The forty-nine character qualities discussed in this book are expressions of genuine love. Each quality is explained from the Bible - the ultimate source of wisdom and character.

This book is about diseases treatable with vitamins. It is also about any number of other ways in which you can, as I say, "fire your doctor." Should you ever want to put someone to sleep, just start lecturing on nutrition with the ever-boring "vitamins A Winner of the PEN/Open Book Award At university in Manila, young, bookish Soledad Soliman falls in with radical friends, defying her wealthy parents and their society crowd. Drawn in by two romantic young rebels, Sol initiates a conspiracy that quickly spirals out of control. Years later, far from her homeland, Sol reconstructs her fractured memories, writing a confession she hopes will be her salvation. Illuminating the dramatic history of the Marcos-era Philippines, this story of youthful passion is a tour de force.

This is a book of theories, of possibilities, concepts, dreams, and speculations, based upon a lot of hard (and soft) evidence and a lot of reaching beyond the boundaries of the known into that gray zone, where, heck, let's face it, anything is possible. It is exciting and fun and intriguing and just might resonate with others out there who have had unusual experiences that couldn't be duplicated in a lab or reduced to a math equation. It is one truth in a multiverse of truths waiting to be discovered, if that is at all possible. There isn't a scientist, skeptic, student, or sage alive who knows the ultimate reality of reality. All we can do is guess, and hope that maybe, when we leave this earth, we might get a glimpse of truth. But that's what makes it so exciting ... the guessing. The hope.

crowded together, including Question mark, Dash, Period, the twins Quotation Marks, and the others. They decide to disregard the group of commas. According to them, the Commas know nothing but being pesky. What the punctuation marks do not know, the commas have a latent ability which they witness on the blackboard - stunning designs which awaken the creativity of the pupils"-- cover.

A story that honors the untiring love a mother has for her family. Although her hands are roughened by hard work, yet they become soft with tenderness when she touches her child.

By the time of 1906, the book of "Who created the Florante," by Mr. Hermenegildo Cruz, the book "Out Of The Florante" , is said to have some 106,000 translations of "Florante and Laura" others; and since then it has been so many years ago, and during that time-especially when it was time for the development of the Tagalog Literature and the adventure of emotion and the love that made us more love unparalleled that Makati Francisco Baltazar-is undoubtedly the precise figure of 106,000 not too small and no more than a thousand more.

This Background Papers on Japan analyzes the recent movements of the yen from a long-term perspective. It reviews the movements in the real value of the yen during the post-war period. The paper highlights that movements in the Consumer Price Index (CPI)- and WPI-based real exchange rate are shown to be characterized by transitory deviations around stable time trends. The paper discusses potential explanations for the secular real appreciation of the yen. The paper also examines the tax reform issues in Japan.

Es una fábula en la que un Ave misteriosa llega al bosque. El Rey de las lechuzas solo le permite quedarse tres días y es custodiada por dos centinelas con quien comparte. El Ave Inmemorial les revela a los centinelas las condiciones asfixiantes de sus sociedad de lechuzas.

A retelling of the traditional tale in which Manik Buangi, the handsome and immortal prince of the sky, falls in love with a human girl.

Among her suitors, Juana chose a young man with brawny arms and fingers to be her fiancé. But one of her spurned suitors became envious and made a drastic move -- the reason why the banana came about.

The field of translation studies was largely formed on the basis of modern Western notions of monolingual nations with print-literate societies and monochrome cultures. A significant number of societies in Asia – and their translation traditions – have diverged markedly from this model. With their often multilingual populations, and maintaining a highly oral orientation in the transmission of cultural knowledge, many Asian societies have sustained alternative notions of what ‘text’, ‘original’ and ‘translation’ may mean and have often emphasized ‘performance’ and ‘change’ rather than simple ‘copying’ or ‘transference’. The contributions in Translation in Asia present exciting new windows into South and Southeast Asian translation traditions and their vast array of shared, inter-connected and overlapping ideas about, and practices of translation, transmitted between these two regions over centuries of contact and exchange. Drawing on translation traditions rarely acknowledged within translation studies debates, including Tagalog, Tamil, Kannada, Malay, Hindi, Javanese, Telugu and Malayalam, the essays in this volume engage with myriad interactions of translation and religion, colonialism, and performance, and provide insight into alternative conceptualizations of translation across periods and locales. The understanding gained from these diverse perspectives will contribute to, complicate and expand the conversations unfolding in an emerging 'international translation studies'.

Relates how the hero Lam-ang won the love of the beautiful Ines Kannyoyan. "The fifth in Pilandok's series of adventures is not only a show of our folk hero's trademark cleverness, but also of Pilandok's concern for the environment ... the pawikan is the target of many poachers and is in danger of extinction."--record for an earlier edition.

Bohol has become nationally famous for its many well-preserved Spanish period churches. Add now another reason for visiting the island: its vintage house from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. These houses share the same gracious features that other Filipino houses of those periods also have. At the same time, as the reader soon discovers, they manifest subtle stylistic details that are unusual in other provinces and that mark them as being truly of Bohol. The book visits several towns in the island and narrates the history, attractions, and present condition of particular houses. The authors form a dream team: Czarina Saloma, a Boholana, has a Ph.D. in sociology while her husband, Erik Akpedonu, is a German architect specializing in heritage preservation. --Fernando N. Zialcita, Ph.D. Author of Philippine Ancestral Houses 1810-1930 For a pioneering work on the subject, Erik and Czarina's latest book project is monumental both in extent and in depth. It is hoped it would set the tone for further publications on the matter. At this time when the nation's eye is set on Bohol as an irresistible travel destination, the book veritably supplies new insights into the culture of this province as expressed in houses and forwards the conviction that this island, beside its cone-shaped hills, white beaches, old churches and the tarsiers, offers many more treasures to explore and appreciate. --Marianito Jose Luspo Co-author of Sukaran: Vernacular Architecture of Two Bohol Towns.

Colonial influences brought on by conquest. Yet for all its richness and diversity, little is known beyond dishes like adobo, sinigang, lechon. Kain Na! aims to change that. The first Illustrated tome of its kind contains essential information on Philippine food and eating habits. It is divided into 12 chapters. Almusal (breakfast), Lutong Bahay (home cooking), Meryenda (afternoon delights), Lutong Kalsada (street food), Paghimagas (desserts), Pulutan (bar chow), Pang-Pista (festival food), Inumin (beverages), Sa Panaderya (bakery finds), Kakanin (rice treats), Sawsawan (dipping sauces), and a section on ingredients key to the Filipino larder.

This edition of Swokowski's text is truly as its name implies: a classic.

Groundbreaking in every way when first published, this book is a simple, straightforward, direct calculus text. It's popularity is directly due to its broad use of applications, the easy-to-understand writing style, and the wealth of examples and exercises which reinforce conceptualization of the subject matter. The author wrote this text with three objectives in mind. The first was to make the book more student-oriented by expanding discussions and providing more examples and figures to help clarify concepts. To further aid students, guidelines for solving problems were added in many sections of the text. The second objective was to stress the usefulness of calculus by means of modern applications of derivatives and integrals. The third objective, to make the text as accurate and error-free as possible, was accomplished by a careful examination of the exposition, combined with a thorough checking of each example and exercise.
